Lisa Stewart is an award winning artist, illustrator and designer best known for her CalligraphyPets line of illustrations. Lisa's entrepreneurial instincts took over at a young age when she ran a fruit and vegetable stand and designed her first line of custom greeting cards. As a bootstrap entrepreneur, Lisa didn't come from money, didn't have amazing connections, and fine artists were responding to the fact that she was building a recognized brand step-by-step in such a short time. Lisa transformed herself into a creative entrepreneur and has already achieved several of her life-long goals by having her art published by a major publisher, art sold by Signals catalog and other imprints, and licensing her art for fine woven goods.

Cultivating a lifestyle brand, Lisa is fascinated with diversifying her product line, blending her selling strategy with global influence, and guiding creative entrepreneurs to explore dynamic ways of partnering and managing their brand in this new economy.

Lisa finds inspiration in travelling, indulging in her hobbies that include photography, painting, illustration and relaxing at home with her husband (+ design partner) and their three cats.
